

Carl Lloyd Davis, Jr.

June 9, 1966 - March 22, 2026

It is with heavy hearts that we announce the passing of Carl Lloyd Davis, Jr., a beloved father, brother, and uncle, who passed away on March 22, 2026. He was born on June 6, 1966, in Chattanooga, Tennessee, and was a lifelong resident of Trenton, Georgia.

Carl was a man whose presence brought comfort, laughter, and unwavering loyalty to those fortunate enough to know him. A loving and devoted father, he took great pride in his son and the life they shared. He was deeply committed to his family, cherishing his roles as a father, brother, and uncle, always showing up with a kind word, a helping hand, or a well-timed joke. His love for his family was constant and unconditional, and his memory will live on in the lives he touched.

He was known for his passion for sports, especially his lifelong dedication to the New York Yankees and the Minnesota Vikings. Whether cheering from his living room or discussing the latest game with friends and family, his enthusiasm was contagious and brought people together.

A proud resident of Trenton, Carl valued his roots and community, forming lasting friendships and leaving a quiet but meaningful impact on those around him. He will be remembered for his steady presence, his sense of humor, and the genuine care he showed to others.

He is survived by his beloved son, Christopher Neal Davis; his sisters, Tammy L. Davis and Sharon L. Davis; and a host of nieces, nephews, great-niece, and great-nephews who will forever cherish his memory.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Margaret O'Bryan Harris-Davis and Carl Lloyd Davis, Sr..

Though Carl is no longer with us, his spirit remains in the memories shared, the laughter remembered, and the love that continues to surround his family. Condolences may be shared at ryanfuneralhome.net.

A celebration of his life will be held on Monday, March 30, from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. EST at Ryan Funeral Home & Crematory, Trenton, GA.
