“ When I heard gw had passed, even though I knew he was in his 90s I was still surprised. For in gw you had a man who seemed to transcend time. I had to remind myself that he was really as old as he was.

Sith his passing dade county has surely lost one of its more colorful characters. The lord certainly don't make em like ol gw any more. While we don't worry at all about where gw is today...we do face our first chapter of the book of life here on this ol earth without him and I for one miss him already.

GW was a Christian man. I am 100% sure of that. He spoke of his love of the lord on almost every occasion I was around him. But, today his family and friends can have peace in the knowledge that gw is with his beloved wife, Annie arm in arm strolling through heaven.

Today he is no longer in pain . For today he is in a place where there is no pain. He is where the angels sing. And for all eternity he is gonna be flooded with a light of peacefulness and content.

So when you miss him the most try not to cry. But, rather look toward the sky and realize he is finally content and worry free. He has left cherished memories for all those of us who knew and loved him. We can be grateful for that.

May he Rest in peace
