“ Junior and Velma Rochester would tell a story about going to visit someone in the family down south and young Nigel (probably 8 years old, I'd guess) told Junior and Velma he knew where they lived and how to get there. So they loaded up in the car, started driving a ways. After a while, they asked Nigel in the back seat where the person lived. Nigel's only response, "They live by the Piggly Wiggly". So they had to turn around and get more detailed directions.
